Senator Jack Reed endorses James Diossa for mayor of Central Falls

Central Falls, RI – United States Senator Jack Reed today officially announced his endorsement of City Councilman James A. Diossa for mayor of Central Falls.

“I am supporting James because I know that he is the right leader to turn Central Falls around and lead it to a bright new future,” Senator Reed stated. “I have walked the streets of Central Falls with him and I trust that he will be a strong advocate for the people of his city.”

Reed said that, “this coming Tuesday is a critical election and I hope you will stand with James Diossa, a candidate who truly embodies the city’s motto of ‘a bright future.’”

“Senator Reed’s endorsement means the world to me,” said Diossa. “I know that, with Senator Reed’s support, we are going to find the resources to create jobs, reinvest in our small business owners and create safe and affordable housing in Central Falls. Together, we are going to bring Central Falls back.”

James Diossa’s campaign for Mayor is gaining noticeable momentum in advance of the November 6th primary election in Central Falls. Diossa, a city councilman since 2010, has been a strong voice for reform: open government, fiscal responsibility, opening the community library, maintaining the city’s post office, identifying resources for small businesses and creating stronger schools. He has been endorsed by U.S. Senator Jack Reed, State Senator Betty Crowley, State Representative Gus Silva, the Rhode Island Latino Political Action Committee (RILPAC), former police lieutenant John Laboissionere and Dexter Credit Union CEO Steven Angel. The Providence Journal recently published his op-ed about his vision for change as mayor of Central Falls (click here to read).
